Press Release.

David Patterson M.P. blocked from leaving the country to attend Congressional meeting despite order of court permitting him to leave the country.

On the evening of Tuesday 26th September 2023 David Patterson MP went to the Cheddie Jagan International Airport for the purposes of travelling to the United States to deliver a presentation on Guyana to the Black Congressional Caucus on Capitol Hill.

After Mr. Patterson had cleared customs and immigration he was approached by Immigration officers who informed him that he was not permitted to travel.

Mr. Patterson contacted his Attorneys, Hughes Fields and Stoby, who informed him that the magistrate had expressly permitted him to travel for business and professional reasons when he was recently charged, provided he attended the court hearing either virtually or in person.

The Attorneys at law then engaged the Immigration officers and inquired whether they were in possession of any order of Court restraining Mr. Patterson from travelling.

They responded indicating that there did not have any such order, neither were they aware of any such order but there was "something in the system" which said Mr. Patterson could not travel.

The attorneys invited the Officers to engage the Head of immigration immediately as Mr. Patterson's constitution right to travel would be violated if he was prevented from travelling.

The officers asked that the Attorneys call back in five minutes.

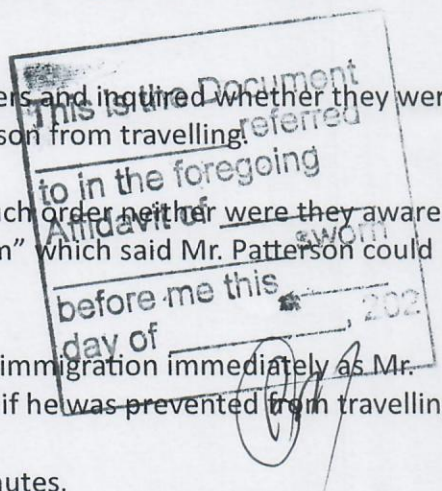

On the return call the Attorneys were informed that they were unable to contact the Head or Deputy Head of immigration and in the light of the fact that there was "something in the system" Mr. Patterson would not be permitted to leave the country.

Mr. Patterson was scheduled to deliver presentations today and tomorrow to the Congressional Black Caucus on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Patterson has instructed that constitutional proceedings for damages be commenced against the State.

Dear Attorney General,

We have been consulted by Mr David Patterson M.P.

We are instructed that on the 26th day of September 2023 our client's fundamental right to travel out of Guyana was breached by the Chief Immigration officer when he refused to permit him to depart from Guyana.

We are instructed that despite the reminders from his counsel that there was an expressed order from Magistrate Dally granting permission to Mr Patterson to travel, the Chief Immigration Officer persisted in the refusal to permit our client to travel out of Guyana.

We are instructed that it was a matter of public record that our client was travelling on official business in his capacity as a member of the National Assembly to meet with and address members of the congress of the United States.

The actions of the Chief Immigration officer were intended to and did frustrate the official visit and presentations of our client.

We are instructed that given the gravity of the intentional violation of our client's protected right, the occasion which he missed as a result of the actions of the Chief Immigration Officer and the clear flouting of the order of Magistrate Daly our client is entitled to substantial damages.

We are further instructed that in the light of the expressed admission of the Chief Immigration Officer that the immigration officers had breached our client's protected and guaranteed constitutional right to travel out of Guyana as provided in Article 148 of the Constitution of the Co-operative Republic of Guyana our client is entitled to vindicatory damages.

We are instructed to request, as we hereby do, the sum of $25,000,000.00 (twenty five million dollars) as damages for the breach of our client's constitutional rights, loss and damage.

We are instructed to give you notice, as we hereby do, that in the event of your failure to respond within five days hereof our instructions are to proceed to have a judicial determination of the breaches of our client's rights.

Yours Sincerely
C.A. Nigel Hughes.
